

A detailed black and white line drawing depicting a bustling equestrian scene. In the lower-left foreground, a horse stands in a field, its head lowered to graze on grass. To its right, a horse-drawn carriage is being pulled by a horse. Inside the carriage, a woman wearing a large hat and a child are seated, with a small dog perched between them. In the center, a horse is being ridden by a person in formal equestrian attire, including a top hat and tall boots. To the left of this rider, another horse is being ridden by a person in a helmet and riding boots. In the upper-left background, a horse is captured in mid-jump over a wooden fence, with three spectators watching from behind. To the right of the jumping horse, another horse is galloping towards the left. In the upper-right, a rider on a large horse is shown in profile, facing left. Below this, another rider on a horse is depicted. The scene is filled with the energy of a horse show or a day at the stables. The drawing is signed 'Polly' in the bottom right corner.

